Issue(s) of the complaint: (Please check all that apply; a complaint may contain more than one allegation):

1. Textbooks and instructional materials: (Education Code 35186; 5 CCR 4681)

- A pupil, including an English Learner, does not have standards-aligned textbooks or instructional materials or state- or district-adopted textbooks or other required instructional materials to use in class.
- A pupil does not have access to textbooks or instructional materials to use at home or after School. This does not require two sets of textbooks or instructional materials for each pupil.
- Textbooks or instructional materials are in poor or unusable condition, have missing Pages, or are unreadable due to damage.
- A pupil was provided photocopied sheets from only a portion of a textbook or instructional materials to address a shortage of textbooks or instructional materials.

2. Teacher vacancy or misassignment: (Education Code 35186; 5CCR 4681)

A semester begins and a teacher vacancy exists. A teacher vacancy is a position to which a single designated certificated employee has not been assigned at the beginning of the school year for an entire year, or, if the position is for a one-semester course, a position to which a single designated certificated employee has not been assigned at the beginning of a semester for an entire semester.

A teacher lacks credentials or training to teach English learners or is assigned to teach a class with ~~more than 20 percent~~ one or more English learners in the class. Change in law: see Cal. Educ. Code Sec. 35186(f)(2)(B)

A teacher is assigned to teach a class for which the teacher lacks subject matter competency.

3. Facility conditions: (Education Code 35186, 35292.5; CCR 4683)

A condition exists that poses an emergency urgent or threat to the health or safety of students or staff including gas leaks; nonfunctioning heating, ventilation, fire sprinklers, or air-conditioning systems; electrical power failure; major sewer stoppage; major pest or vermin infestation; broken windows or exterior doors or gates that will not lock and that pose a security risk; abatement of hazardous materials previously undiscovered that pose an immediate threat to pupils or staff; or structural damage creating a hazardous or uninhabitable condition.

A school restroom has not been cleaned or maintained properly, is not fully operational, or has not been stocked at all times with toilet paper, soap, and paper towels or functional hand dryers.

The school has not kept all restrooms open during school hours when pupils are not in classes and has not kept a sufficient number of restrooms open during school hours when pupils are in classes. This does not apply when closing of the restroom is necessary for pupil safety or to make repairs.

4. High school exit exam intensive instruction and services: (Education Code 35186)

Pupils who have not passed the high school exit exam by the end of grade 12 were not provided the opportunity to receive intensive instruction and services pursuant to Education Code 37254(d)(4) and (5) after the completion of grade 12.

Please describe the issue of your complaint in detail. You may attach additional pages as necessary to fully describe the situation. For complaints regarding facilities conditions, please describe the emergency or urgent facilities condition and how that condition poses a threat to the health or safety of pupils or staff.

Description of Williams Issues at John F. Kennedy High School

Introduction

John F. Kennedy High School is a high school in West Contra Costa Unified School District (WCCUSD). As of the 2022-23 school year, 823 students were enrolled at the school, 78 percent of whom are socioeconomically disadvantaged. Nearly half of the 823 students identified as English learners or multilingual learners.

Per California Education Code Section 35186, Williams complaints may be filed in response to concerns about instructional materials, clean and safe school facilities, or teacher vacancies or misassignments. Public Advocates is filing this Williams complaint on behalf of Hilda Cristina Huerta, an educator at John F. Kennedy High School, in response to serious concerns regarding teacher vacancies greatly impacting the students and teaching staff at John F. Kennedy High School.

The staffing instability and reliance on unsustainable remedies are causing a detrimental effect on the students of John F. Kennedy High School. Over 400 students At John F. Kennedy High School started the 2023-24 school year off without a certificated permanent teacher in at least one class. Members of the school community have expressed concerns about the number of students, particularly multilingual learners whose academic and social-emotional needs are being ignored because of the number of teacher vacancies at John F. Kennedy High School.

The Complainant

Hilda Cristina Huerta has been an educator at John F. Kennedy High School for ten years. She currently teaches two Spanish Literature classes for students whose home language is Spanish. Ms. Huerta played an instrumental role in the development of the Spanish Speaker Program at John F. Kennedy High School, and continues to provide essential support to multilingual students.

Teacher Vacancies

Members of the school community have shared the following general, ongoing concerns with us:

- Classroom instability and reliance on the online program, Edgenuity, to teach whole courses to classrooms of students is escalating chronic absenteeism, especially for those who require additional support.
- School administrators are having teachers both period-sub and work 120% of their job responsibilities¹, sacrificing their preparation time and risking burn out.

¹ Period-subbing is the practice of having a substitute or a school's own certificated teachers cover a vacancy on an ad hoc, day-by-day basis. When no permanent, single designated teacher is assigned to the class, an illegal vacancy exists. A related, but legal way to fill a vacancy is to designate a particular teacher to teach the same period every day for the full year or semester (assuming they are otherwise properly authorized to teach the subject and students

We have learned of the following specific teacher vacancies that we demand be immediately corrected:

- Multi-grade English Language Development: The teacher originally assigned to these two periods was pulled from a special assignment, and reportedly left after a few days into the 2023-24 school year, creating a vacancy in September 2023. Until October 2023 both periods were period-subbed. A long-term substitute teacher was assigned to cover the vacancy towards the end of the first quarter, and continued to cover the vacancy up until recently. Now, to our knowledge, the vacancy is again being period-subbed. This class is primarily for long-term English learners, some of whom are experiencing delays in reclassification due to the lack of stable support.
- 12th Grade CSU Expository Reading and Writing Curriculum: The permanent teacher who would have been assigned to teach these four periods is the same as the above Multi-grade English Language Development class who has departed. Accordingly, this vacancy was formerly covered by a long-term substitute teacher beginning in October 2023. Now all four periods are being period-subbed, impacting students in their college preparation.
- 6th Period Physical Education: Since the fall of 2023, this period has repeatedly been covered by substitutes or period-subbed by John F. Kennedy High School teachers working at 120%. Now, well into the 2023-24 school year, there continues to be no stable coverage.
- Music: Since the beginning of the school year, this music class has had a regular teacher teaching at 120% to cover two of the four weekly periods, and has fill-in teachers for the other two periods. To our understanding, a vacancy still exists for the two periods that are being period-subbed.

Inaction by School Administrators

We have also heard many concerns about inaction by school and district leadership and a systematic failure to ensure that students are provided with comprehensive instruction. Other surrounding districts are not experiencing the same level of teacher vacancies as WCCUSD.² These concerns include:

- A failure to develop a comprehensive recruitment, development, hiring and assignment plan across the district to ensure that all classes are covered by a single designated certificated teacher with the requisite subject matter competence and legal authorization to provide instruction to the students in the class. Through adequate compensation and support, robust teacher residencies, in the class). When those teachers already have full loads, this results in the teacher working 120% to fill the vacancy. Although this practice, which appears to be a common occurrence at John F. Kennedy High School, does not technically violate Williams, it is not a sustainable solution for the individual teacher or the school community.² 78% of classes in West Contra Costa Unified School District are taught by both fully prepared and properly assigned teachers. See California Department of Education DataQuest, 2021-22 Teaching Assignment Monitoring Outcomes by Full-Time Equivalent (FTE), <https://dq.cde.ca.gov/dataquest/DOCensus/TchAssgnOutcomeLevels.aspx?agglevel=County&cde=07&year=2021-22>.

The county and state average is 85%, with at least thirteen districts in Contra Costa meeting or exceeding that average. Id. See also, The Education Trust-West, Teaching Assignment Monitoring Outcomes (TAMO) Data Dashboard, <https://west.edtrust.org/tamo-data-dashboard/>.

grow-your-own, and other traditional and alternative pathway programs, the district needs to be aggressive about recruiting, developing and hiring an adequate supply of teachers.

- The reliance on teachers to work at 120% to cover vacancies, beyond what is included in this complaint, instead of actively searching for permanent and sustainable replacements.
- A failure to maintain adequate internal processes to hire and assign teachers in a timely manner and, when fully-credentialed teachers are not available, to take advantage of the lawful options for staffing classrooms with permanent teachers who may not yet be fully-certified, in lieu of rolling substitutes. The lack of such internal processes is evidenced by the inaction by administrators to recruit and retain permanent and certificated replacements for the vacancies in which they had ample notice to fill before the beginning of the 2023-24 school year.
- A failure to provide comprehensive training and institutional support to those long-term substitutes who are currently covering classes at John F. Kennedy High School.

Remedies Sought

We seek the following remedies. That the district and school:

- Fill the vacant positions within a reasonable period of time, not to exceed 30 (thirty) working days. (Cal. Educ. Code Sec. 35186(b)), and hopefully sooner to avoid further disruption to the affected students' education and adverse impacts on school climate.
- Prioritize filling the vacancies at Title I schools without exacerbating the issue elsewhere by pulling educators from other high need schools.
- Cease the practice of overworking John F. Kennedy High School teachers by having them work 120% and/or using long-term substitutes to cover vacancies, and instead implement districtwide processes to recruit, hire, and assign permanent, legally authorized teachers in a timely manner and refine the teacher development and support programs to advance such processes, including supporting classified staff interested in a pathway to become a certificated teacher.
- Implement a districtwide stipend program to prepare and retain teachers who are fully certificated to teach English learner students and the subject matter they are teaching at Title I schools.
